Struck by train

GRANITE CITY — A Mitchell woman was seriously injured Sunday morning when a train collided with her car.

Deborah E. Brandt, 18, of 707 Meadowlane Drive, Mitchell, backed out of a private driveway onto the tracks of the Alton & Southern Railway and into the path of a passing train about 9:45 a.m. June 15, Illinois State Police officials said.

The train struck the front of her auto and dragged the car about a quarter-mile down the tracks, police said.

The railroad crossing is located about 100 feet south of 3204 Country Place Lane, just outside the Granite City limits and in the general area of the Archer Daniels Midland plant, authorities said.

She was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center and was later transferred by helicopter to St. Louis University Hospital.

Brandt suffered a skull fracture to her head in the accident, said her mother, Katherine.

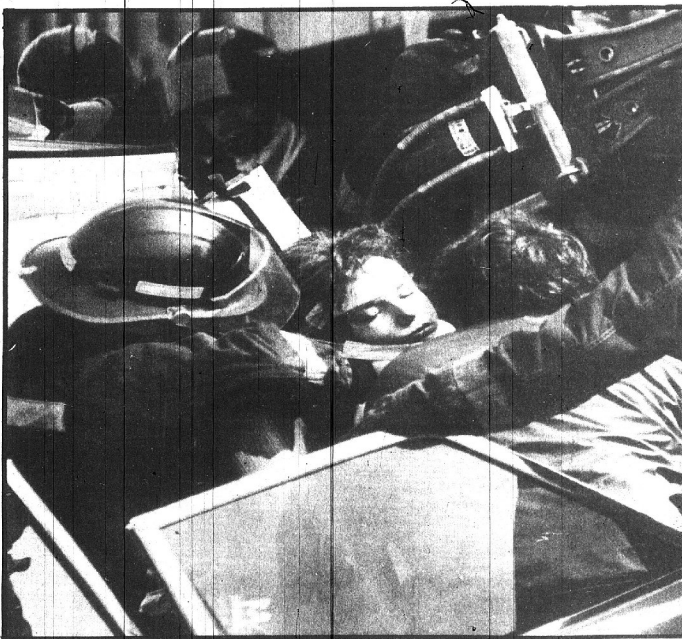

"She is progressing like the doctors want her to do," Katherine said.

Due to the impact of the collision, Deborah was unconscious and could not remember any details of the accident, Katherine said.

"She was knocked-out right away," Katherine said. "She didn't understand what had happened."

Brandt underwent surgery Sunday afternoon and was listed Monday in satisfactory condition, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Brandt is a 1985 graduate of Granite City High School and recently completed her freshman year at Westminster College in Fulton, Mo.

ACCIDENT VICTIM Deborah Brandt, 18, of rural Granite City is lifted out of the wreckage of her car Sunday morning. Her car was struck by a train after she had apparently backed out of a nearby driveway on Country Place Lane into its path. ## Adults, children at summer school

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

Sixty elementary students are expected to attend summer school in Venice, where classes started Monday. Superintendent of Schools Robert N. Vickers said.

Morning classes which concentrate on remedial mathematics and reading will continue through Friday, July 25.

VENICE-LINCOLN Technical Center's summer session also began Monday, June 16.

Peter Ponce, VLTC director, informed the Venice Board of Education Thursday night the summer program was set back one week from June 9 and shortened in duration due to cutbacks in federal and state funds.

A total of 128 adults enrolled in the vocational-education school will conclude classes on Aug. 8. The original schedule called for an 11-week summer session.

SEVERAL SLOTS are open in the Madison School District's high school English summer class. Vickers informed board members.

"Superintendent (John) Palchick called today and they may have room for five or more students in the English class. They had 90 registered, but not all showed up," the Venice school administrator said.

"We will have to pay the cost of the kids to go there, but I will contact John Rush (VHS principal) and see if any of the students want to attend," he said.

VENICE was forced to drop

Some land owners object to annexation by Pontoon

The Pontoon Beach Village Board of Trustees has approved a huge annexation which more than doubles the previous size of the village and brings its corporate limits close to those of Collinsville.

But Harry Sterling, an attorney representing several landowners, said he mailed a motion Monday asking Madison County Circuit

Longer postal hours

Granite City Postmaster Larry Wood has announced that the retail service lobby hours at the main post office will be extended on Fridays beginning June 20.

The post office's retail lobby will now be open until 6 p.m. each Friday. The main post office is located at 2350 Madison Ave.

THE NAMEOKI Postal Station in the Bellemore Village Shopping Center will open on Saturdays, effective June 21, Wood announced. That station has recently been remodeled and new lock boxes have been installed. The service hours for Saturday will be from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

Wood said, "The changes in service hours are to accommodate postal customers who are unable to visit the post office during the current business hours of 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m."

"OUR PHILOSOPHY in the postal service is changing and we are becoming more customer-oriented."

"The main Granite City post office lobby has been consistently crowded each Saturday morning."

"The extended hours on Friday — plus the opening of the Nameoki Station on Saturdays — should allow customers to purchase their postal products with more convenience."

Venice fines up

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

VENICE — The city coffers were bolstered by $40,000 in fines collected through the Circuit Court and returned to Venice between April 1985 and March 1986, Police Chief Farris Smith reported to the City Council Tuesday night.

Not only was the fine money higher than the previous 12 months' receipts of $32,587, but the number of arrests made by Venice officers also increased substantially over the previous year.

"I AM PROUD OF IT," Chief Smith said Friday, referring to the annual report and comparing totals to those of the previous year.

"They did a good job," he said of his officers.

The only category reduced in this year's report was the number of juveniles arrested and charged.

"We didn't have as many problems with juveniles last year," Smith said.

ADULT ARRESTS made from April 1985 to March 1986 totaled 1,700, including 375 adult women, Smith said. The total number of charges in the new report was 2,136.

Between April 1984 and March 1985, there were 1,091 adults arrested on a total of 1,340 charges.

Juvenile arrests in the 1985-86 report numbered 49, including seven girls, on 77 charges. In 1984-85, there were 84 juveniles arrested on 93 charges.

"THERE ARE THOSE who say our police are not making arrests," Mayor Tyrone Echols said, speaking of the new annual report.

"Well that figure (1,749) averages five arrests per day and 145 arrests per month so I hope you make a note of that," he said to the aldermen and other residents at Tuesday's meeting.

The total of 2,136 charges filed in 1985-86 included 1,347 for city traffic violations, 374 state traffic violations, 139 city ordinance violations and 160 state ordinance violations.

Other arrests were three on felony charges, 24 held for investigation and released, 19 arrests for other departments, four mental cases, 10 people were held until sober and 55 warrants were served.

JUVENILE CHARGES totaled 77. They included 25 state traffic charges, 19 city ordinance violations, three runaways, one warrant and one state ordinance referred to the juvenile court.

Thirteen juveniles were picked up for violation of state ordinances and were released after a station adjustment and 13 were arrested for investigation and later were released.

FROM A MONETARY standpoint, December 1985 was the most lucrative month for the city in payment of fines, with $4,503 returned.

October 1985 was the second highest month with $4,366 in fines being collected, followed by March 1986, when $4,293 in fine money was returned to Venice.

Fines in January and February amounted to $3,534 and $2,780, respectively.

Other funds returned to the city last year from fines by month, other than those mentioned, were:

April 1985, $2,254; May, $2,217; June, $1,839; July, $3,386; August, $3,295; September, $3,616; and November, $3,699.

Reviews and previews

Chief judge re-elected

Chief Judge Phillip J. Rarick has been re-elected as chief judge of the 3rd Judicial Court, which includes Madison and Bond counties. Rarick's past judicial assignments have included serving as chief associate judge and as chief judge of the criminal felony division. He is a member of the state and local bar associations.

Pontoon Beach annexes land

Pontoon Beach last week annexed 2,400 acres of property, doubling the size of the village, in anticipation of a growth in business following the opening of I-255. Glen Wilson, president, said the area is not an enterprise zone, but he feels new business will choose to locate near the new highway and generate increased revenue for the village.

McKinley Bridge repair completed

Traffic was back to normal last week after repair of a surface buckle in the deck of the McKinley Bridge. Caused by extreme enlargement of an expansion joint, damage was done to a 20x10 foot section of the span in the westbound lane. Authorities believe the damage was caused by heat.

50 years ago

Thursday, June 25, 1936

Three days after protesting state legislation which would double bonding power of the levee district, aldermen Frank Sappington, John Ryckman and Jack Morgan telegraphed State Sen. James Monroe asking him to support the measure. Aldermen would not comment on the change of heart.

Tell it like it is

Q: Can Granite City attract new industry and residents while the school system is subject to controversy?

Phyllis Laster

"I'd like to see the area attract new industry. I'm not sure how much the schools can affect that sort of thing. Our kids are grown." — Granite City

Andrew Macek

"I don't think they'll attract anything. There's too much politics on the school board the way it looks." — Granite City

Valara Schorffheide

"I don't even know why I'm living here. I don't like this city. We kept saying we'd move out when the kids were grown. Now, we can't afford to. There are a lot of things we need to change."

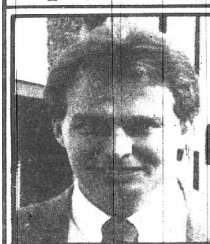

NEXT WEEK: Considering the slow start the Cardinals are off to, who do you think they will trade to improve themselves and motivate the remaining players?

Quote of the week

"I want to avoid even the appearance of impropriety," said Belleville Area College Board of Trustees President Wayne Reynolds last week when asked why that unit planned to abandon its committees. Reynolds discovered that telephone conversations between himself and trustees could be construed as a violation of the Open Meetings Act.

Tip of the hat

Dr. Charles King Jr.

Dr. Charles King Jr., a chiropractor at The Back Pain Relief Center, 1509 23rd St., presented 14 contourpedic back cushions Monday to Police Chief Bill Harris to be used in squad and detective cars.

The cushions are designed to support the lumbar, or lower back, area while driving by keeping the lumbar spine in slight extension.

King treats several policemen for back problems, he said, due to the constant sitting and getting in and out of squad cars.

See Thursday's Press-Record for more details.

Alderman defends watchdog efforts

To the editor:

In response to the June 12 letter to the Press-Record, I would like to set the record straight.

I am a school teacher, but I really do not know what this has to do with the City of Madison having to pay many employees.

As far as my aldermanic pay, I only receive the money that has been allocated for all aldermen, including those who are members of the New Life Party. This money has been appropriated by ordinances that were passed by the city council.

The political job for a relative of the 45-year Madisonian refers to the one my 81-year-old father as a school crossing guard. His job, which amounts to about $1.50 an hour, is jointly paid by the school district and the police department. I might add that the job was not created in the last 12 months.

The other Gushleff that he refers to is my nephew, who is an umpire for the softball program sponsored by the Playground and Recreation Department. His check is minimal and is paid for out of fees charged to participating teams.

More important to note is that my nephew was hired by Jim Broadway, director of the Recreation Department. I voted against the appointment of Broadway for Recreation director.

I assume that my nephew was hired as an umpire with the approval of Mayor Bellecoff. Where is the political connection of my nephew's job to me?

Anyone with reasonable intelligence should be able to see that I am not taking care of my family at the expense of the city.

Now to address the more serious question of my role as an alderman and the purchase of city equipment.

First of all, a majority of the aldermen voted for the purchase of city equipment and only after the superintendent of streets recommended the purchase.

We carefully followed his specifications. The street department has purchased equipment for their needs as long as we have been a city.

If there are problems with figuring out a way to use some of the new equipment purchased for the city, perhaps (some of the new employees hired in the last 12 months are unable to comprehend the problems.

Secondly, the Madisonian implies that the purchase of a new fire truck was unnecessary. Once again, a major responsibility of a municipality is to provide fire protection, and in the past the city has always purchased fire equipment.

The condition of our firefighting equipment and the state of our fire department have a direct effect upon the cost of insurance our homeowners are required to pay in order to insure their property.

If a city has inadequate fire equipment, the insurance rates go up, and in some cases it is difficult to even buy insurance protection.

Then there is the question of the Gateway Truck Stop. Once again, I have explained on several occasions how the water line could be funded.

I am still supportive of Mayor Bellecoff's efforts to secure a grant for the water line.

Finally, I have never been asleep at any council meeting, and I have conscientiously voted to protect the interests of the people of my ward and the city.

I suspect that what is really bothering the 45-year Madisonian is that, in the past, the city purchased equipment and was still able to balance its budget. Today, that is not the case.

Instead of attacking one alderman who dares to inform the public about the affairs of the city, he should consider his own glass house.

I am proud of my efforts to help the City of Madison and will demonstrate this pride by signing my name to this letter. Why didn't he sign his name?

WASHINGTON — The State Department's 20-year effort to provide an appropriately elegant residence for the American ambassador in Cairo has cost the taxpayers $6 million — and the ambassador is still living in the home of the charge d'affaires.

The story of extravagance, ineptitude and plain bad luck was dug out of State Department and congressional files by our associate Lucette Lagado. Read it and weep.

In 1966, the department bought a colonial-era villa overlooking the Nile, not far from the Giza pyramids. It needed only some refurbishing to transform it into a showplace befitting the representative of a superpower.

But fate intervened, in the form of the Arab-Israeli war of 1967. Badly shelled by Israel, Egypt reacted by breaking off diplomatic relations with its enemy's friend, the United States.

When relations were resumed in 1974, the State Department raised the residential ante: A second mansion was purchased to house the ambassador while the Giza property was being restored. The new place, in the Cairo suburb of Maadi, cost $1.8 million, plus $1 million to refurbish. This was accomplished in only four years.

But when it was ready to occupy, the ambassador, Hermann Eilts, complained that it was too far from the embassy downtown, was in a neighborhood where no other ambassadors lived and lacked proper security. He refused to move in, and pre-empted the relatively modest home of the charge d'affaires in the Zamalek suburb. The fancy digs in Maadi were left vacant.

Meanwhile, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat decided he wanted the Giza property — the first site, remember? — for his own use. So State turned it over to him and the wreckers leveled the old mansion on the Nile.

ended or reprinted at the agency's Technical Center in Atlantic City, N.J. The reason: They were caught copying video games onto government computers. The computer chips of about 100 such popular games as "Donkey Kong" and "Space Invaders" were then extracted for use at home by the employees and for sale to friends.

The St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp. has spent $120,000 to renovate an abandoned Coast Guard building at Cape Vincent, N.Y. The structure will be used to provide overnight housing for maintenance workers who tend the buoys in the area. But Transportation Department auditors calculated that buoy tenders spend only 55 nights in the area each year, and noted that the Seaway plans to let employees' families use the building during the summer. "In summary," the auditors wrote, "the facility will be available primarily for recreational purposes."

DIPLOMATIC DIGEST. Hungary is fighting a frightening illegal drug epidemic. The government in Budapest recently gave out the appalling figures: In the early 1970s, there were only a couple of hundred young drug abusers in Hungary. By the early 1980s, there were an estimated 10,000, and by 1984, the figure had risen to 30,000. That is in a population of about 11 million. It appears that Marxism is making opium the religion of the people.

Diplomatic sources who know their spoken Arabic say that King Hussein of Jordan is the most refined of all Arab leaders. Unlike the self-made despots who rule many neighboring countries, the diminutive monarch speaks an elegant, classical Arabic that is almost poetic. And he does not make grammatical errors that sometimes mark the speech of more plebeian rulers.

Sterilization of pets urged

To the editor:

The Madison County Humane Society urges all pet owners to spay or neuter their pets.

Because of pet owners' collective failure to sterilize their animals, last year the nation's shelters had to kill 14 million healthy but sadly unwanted pets.

At the local level, the Madison County Pound last year adopted only 78 of 2,857 dogs and 14 of 1,100 cats. Only a scant 2 percent of the animals found homes.

The problem can only worsen if pet owners fail to act responsibly.

It is speculated that, because of the short pregnancies and large litters of dogs and cats, a single female — with her similarly fertile offspring — can be the source of an astounding 4,000 new lives within seven years.

The Humane Society of the United States estimates that 2,500 to 3,000 dogs and cats are born every hour.

Given these persistent and growing problems, all pet owners should sterilize their pets. Even if it has a home, every newborn puppy or kitten compounds the pet overpopulation problem.

In Madison County, the Animal Safety and Humane Control Society (Spay Clinic) in Bethalto provides sterilization at very reasonable costs.

If interested in adopting a dog or cat from the Madison County Humane Society, please call Sherry Harper at 345-8759 or Ledy Vankavage at 345-6108.

Children principal's life

To the editor:

Thanks, for your cooperation and support, to all former students and to parents, friends, teachers, administrators and board members.

My 33 years in Granite City in the field of education, serving the children of this community, have been most rewarding.

I have many fond memories and lifetime friends. The children have been my life and I have been privileged to have had some small part in their lives.

As I turn my key over to my successor, I am leaving the school premises as an employee, but I shall be working with and for the youth of this community as a member of the Mayor's Committee on Youth and in an advisory capacity to the Committee on Youth of the University of Illinois.

Parking, trash problems announced in Nameoki Township

By Bill Bagby

NAMEOKI TOWNSHIP—On the street parking in prohibited areas and trash dumping on roads are causing problems in Nameoki Township, said Supervisor Harry Briggs Sr. Complaints have been received from residents of Foreman Court, located off Maryville Road, of large trucks parking on the street, he said. Residents in that area have a restriction in their contract with the developer allowing no on-street parking, Briggs said.

The Madison County Sheriff's Department has been asked to patrol the area, Briggs said, and will possibly issue warnings to violators. "We want to alert the people to this fact," he said. "We're not trying to press them."

Another problem in the township is trash dumping on Bischoff Road, by Lakeside Airport, and on Slough Road in the northwest corner of the township near the Chain of Rocks Canal, Briggs said. Three truckloads of debris were hauled last week from these areas, he said. Some of the trash had been dumped in the middle of the road. The sheriff's department is making an appeal to the residents of these areas to write down the license number of any vehicle illegally dumping trash, Briggs said. "I think we'll put a stop to it if they would do that," he said.

Navy Mothers donate funds

Contributions of $25 each were approved to be sent to the Naval Hospitals at Jacksonville, Fla., and Great Lakes, Ill., by members of Quad-City Navy Mothers Chapter 850 at its June meeting. Commander Nina Molsinger presided at the session held in the VFW Hall on Thursday. Mary Allen, second vice commander, reviewed the club's participation in the Hands Across America event and said the entire program was impressive. Another event receiving praise was the Memorial Day ceremony at the Venice-Madison American Legion Post. Mary Ann Rollberg reported the chapter placed a wreath at the prisoner of war-missing in action monument. Plans were discussed to participate in the downtown Craft and Food Fest. Chapter members will provide homemade items for sale, Molsinger said.

During a social hour a mystery package was won by Rollberg and the special award went to the commander. The next meeting is set for June 26 at the VFW Hall.

Performers

GRIGSBY VOCAL CONCERT was performed by the school choir. Included in the program was Roy Ringwald's arrangement of The Battle Hymn of the Republic, conducted by Eric Barker, left, and duo pianists, Deloris Barker, center, director of the junior high choir, and Dan Vizer of Granite City.

GC business gets new name, will stress trade

At a management meeting at the main company headquarters in Newport Beach, Calif., William A. Martindale, director, and J.R. McSunas, president of Josco Crown International Ltd., announced a name change for the company, now to be called Mar-trade Ltd.

The four-day corporate meeting in Newport Beach brought together the various profit center managers from Sao Paulo, Brazil, Tampa, Fla., Granite City, Ill., Minneapolis, Minn., and Billings, Mont., as well as reports from associates in Europe. McSunas said, "There is much to do and there is a great demand for our skill and services. In the first full year since our founding, we have made very exciting progress."

Josco Crown bought certain assets of the I.S. Joseph Co. of Minneapolis in February 1985. McSunas said, "We have strengthened old account relationships and developed new outlets to the point where we have determined it's entirely appropriate to bring a new name to the company, to better reflect its expansion in national and international trade."

"The new name, Mar-trade Ltd., is a more modern way to describe our ongoing work in the agri-industry world and the expansion of the company in its trading and marketing activities."

McSunas reported to the assembled corporate officers and profit center directors gathered at the headquarters that the company is expanding its program to include additional marketing activities with the agri-business industry of Brazil and new commercial opportunities available from the Pacific Rim. The new name was called a "reflection of enhanced and expanded trade opportunities."

One out of eleven women will develop breast cancer.

Perhaps the two most frightening words to a woman are breast cancer. The number one killer of females, breast cancer is a disease caused by an uncontrolled growth of abnormal cells in the breast tissue. But with detection, effective treatment can be started immediately, therefore improving the patient's prognosis. The survival rate among women who find cancer before it is noticeable is 97 percent.

To answer the need for early detection of breast disease, St. Elizabeth Medical Center has established the Breast Diagnostic Program, which provides mammographies at almost half the cost of such procedures being done elsewhere. A convenient diagnostic procedure, a mammogram provides patients with high quality, high sensitivity images with minimal radiation exposure.

Following the guidelines by the American Cancer Society, this simple, painless exam is currently the best method of detecting breast disease. The ACS recommends all women age 35 to 40 have an initial, routine mammogram; diagnostic exams periodically between age 40 and 50; and yearly exams after age 50.

*How many will detect it
in time?*

Scheduling for the general public began May 5 and will end on Monday, June 30. The program will continue until all requests for it have been met. The cost is $55, which includes the interpretation fee. Normally, such a procedure would cost $95 to $100.

LaRouche fund-raising group sued

A fund-raising organization for extremist politician Lyndon LaRouche was sued by Illinois Attorney General Neil Hartigan Tuesday for allegedly violating the state securities and consumer fraud laws.

The lawsuit was brought against Caucus Distributors Inc. on behalf of Illinois Secretary of State Jim Edgar, whose office administers state security regulation laws. Edgar's office conducted an investigation which resulted in the request for the lawsuit.

Janice Hart, the LaRouche associate who won the March Democratic primary nomination for secretary of state, and Mark Fairchild, who won the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, have both worked for Caucus Distributors in Chicago.

The lawsuit seeks an injunction barring Caucus Distributors and two other LaRouche front groups from continuing to offer "promissory notes" to Illinois residents. The suit contends the notes are "securities" under Illinois law.

It alleges Caucus Distributors made "untrue statements" that the money "invested" for the notes would be repaid with interest when the federal government provided matching election funds (LaRouche is a perennial candidate for president) and failed to disclose there were insufficient funds available to cover checks issued to Illinois residents for repayment of notes.

It also charges Caucus Distributors failed to disclose to Illinois residents that it would make unauthorized cash withdrawals from their credit card accounts.

The lawsuit states Caucus Distributors solicited from the public on the representation it was a charitable organization but failed to register as a charitable group as required by state law.

As a result, "the attorney general is unable to determine whether these charitable funds are properly administered," it is contended.

Besides Caucus Distributors, two other LaRouche organizations, Campaigner Publications and the Schiller Institute Inc., and three individuals, Ronald Freeman, Paul Greenberg and Ronald R. Bettag, as well as "certain unnamed John and Jane Does" are named as defendants in the lawsuit.

The lawsuit, filed in Cook County Circuit Court in Chicago, asks the court to order the defendants to rescind any "sales of securities."

LaRouche fund-raising organizations are also under investigation in several other states, particularly related to alleged unauthorized tapping of credit card accounts.

Waste exchange saves state firms $7 million

State figures show that more than $7 million was earned or saved through the Industrial Material Exchange Service in 1985 while 3.5 million gallons of hazardous or special waste were diverted from disposal to recovery or reuse.

The figures were compiled by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency and the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce.

In the five years the exchange service has operated, it has helped industry profit by over $9.5 million while redirecting over 15 million gallons of material from disposal to reuse. The IEPA and ISCC cosponsor the exchange.

The Industrial Material Exchange Service is designed to act as an information clearinghouse specifically for use by industry.

Information solicited and published six times a year advertising industrial by-products, unused surplus, off-specification materials and wastes which are available and wanted.

The exchange shares its information with 11 other waste exchanges throughout the U.S. and Canada. The success of that marketing allowed industry from 33 states, Canada and Puerto Rico to participate in the Exchange in 1985.

Wilmsmeyer again named to port board

Gov. James R. Thompson on Friday announced the reappointment of a Tri-City Regional Port District board member, Melvin Wilmsmeyer, 65, of Granite City, chairman of the First Granite City National Bank and president of First Bancorporation.

Wilmsmeyer's reappointment as one of seven local port commissioners is effective immediately and expires May 31, 1989. The position pays expenses only and does not require Illinois Senate confirmation.

Parent, child matched by adoption registry

Dr. Bernard J. Turnock, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, has announced the first "match" of a biological parent and adopted child as a result of the state's Adoption Registry.

"On June 4, letters were sent to a biological mother and to her adult son whom she had given up for adoption when he was an infant," Turnock said. The letters informed both parties of the match, and advised each of the other's name and address.

Turnock said the match was possible only because both the mother and the son had submitted their names to the registry. "Neither a parent nor an adopted child will be notified unless both names are in the registry," he explained.

Since Jan. 1, 1985, when the registry went into effect, 24 adoptees and 28 biological parents have been registered.

Biological mothers and fathers are interested in attempting to locate one another, can obtain information and registration forms by contacting the state health department's Adoption Registry, Division of Vital Records, 605 W. Jefferson, Springfield, Ill., 62702. A fee of $40 is to be submitted with the completed registration forms.

Burglar loots Schermer home

A burglar ransacked the home of Avery Schermer, 2600 Edison Ave., and made off with musical instruments, jewelry and other items. It was reported at 2:20 p.m. June 13. An inventory is being taken to determine the extent of the loss.

Initially reported missing were alto and tenor saxophones, a video cassette recorder, gold jewelry, a turntable, two speakers, a receiver, two antique clocks, 36 silver spoons, a musette musical instrument and costume jewelry.

BICYCLIST HURT IN MISHAP
Lan Hildreth, 12, of 1552 Johnson Road was injured at 7:47 p.m. June 12 when his bicycle collided with a car, driven by David Hoffmann of 2141 Benton St., on a private road off the 1500 block of Johnson Road.

TRUCK DRIVER IS ROBBED
Jim Maze of Marion, Ohio, told Madison police at 4 a.m. June 9 that while he was checking tires on his truck trailer parked at Gateway Midstate Truck Plaza, two women approached and one placed a sharp object against his back. She then took his wallet containing $200 and personal papers.

$1,000 FIRE DAMAGE TO AUTO CAUSED BY WIRING
A fire did $1,000 damage to a 1976 Chrysler Imperial auto at Houser Automotive, 18th Street and Madison Avenue.

The blaze was contained within the right part of the dashboard and the windshield area. A short-circuit in a wire was the cause of the fire.

$300 BICYCLE TAKEN
Charles Hozian of 2432 Iowa St. said June 12 someone took his bicycle, valued at $300, from 3701 Nameoki road.

FOUR ARE CHARGED WITH POSSESSION OF CANNABIS

Freddie Novosel Jr., 17, of Collinsville, a 15-year-old Granite City boy, a 15-year-old Maryville boy and a 14-year-old Corpus Christi, Texas, boy were each charged June 12 with unlawful possession of cannabis.

Police stopped Novosel's car at a city sticker roadblock at Franklin Avenue and Johnson Road. Officers alleged finding plastic bags of cannabis in the waist band of three of the four males. A cigarette box allegedly containing two cannabis cigarettes was found under the front seat of the auto.

Novosel was released on $102 cash bail. The three youths were released to their parents on notices to appear at a hearing.

BURGLAR GETS $1,300 VALUE
Leonine Camp, 918 Jackson St., Madison, returned home at 10:22 p.m. June 6 and found all the lights on in her home, she told Madison police. All rooms had been ransacked and a 19-inch color television set and a collection of pennies, with a total value of $1,300, were missing. Entry was made through a window.

INTRUDER TAKES TV SET
The front door of the home of Janice Camp, 914 Jackson St., Madison, was kicked open by an intruder who ransacked her home June 6. Missing are a 19-inch color television and a cable TV channel box, with a total value of $500.

WOMAN INJURED IN CRASH AT CAR STICKER ROADBLOCK
Mary Murphy, 43, of 2034 Benton St. was injured in an auto accident at 10:58 a.m. June 12. She was stopping for a city auto license sticker roadblock set up by police at Pehling Road and Bradley Avenue when her car was struck in the rear by an auto driven by Brian Meyer of 2736 Washington Ave.

BAND EQUIPMENT TAKEN
Band equipment, including two microphones and a piano, stored at 1685 Market St., Madison, and valued at $500, were stolen June 5, it was reported by the owner, Larry Hines.

RALLY ROUND THE USA

SAVE AMERICAN INDUSTRY & JOBS DAY JUNE 21

It's Time To Take The Gloves Off

This Saturday, at selected sites across America, the first giant steps will be taken to put our country on a new course to revitalize our basic industries.

The steering committees for these local rally sites include mayors and other public officials, small business owners, factory workers, clergymen and others who are suffering because of the devastation of American industry.

They will be joined by members of Congress, celebrity entertainers and concerned citizens.

The local rallies will be united in a two hour satellite teleconference program which will be broadcast live from the main stage site in Washington, D.C. and other cities.

These events will help define and project the economic issues that must be resolved before America loses other industries, millions of jobs and we become even more dependent on other nations.

It's a big day for the USA. Be part of it.

The American promise is for all of us.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hackmann

Hackmann-Stephens

Jocelyn Stephens, formerly of Granite City, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry (Barbara) Stephens of Belleville, was married to Mark J. Hackmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Dorothy) Hackmann of Belleville, at 5 p.m. on April 19 at Signal Hill Methodist Church, Belleville.

Maid of honor was Vicki Hauser and bridesmaids included Amy Partney, Connie Carrazana, Elaine Mank and Lee Ann Stephens.

The flower girls were Jessica Partney and Brittany Hackmann. John Weismuehler was best man and groomsmen were Kip Pabst, Ron Davidson, Jeff Hackmann and Steve Karwoski. Ushers were Steve and Jim Hackmann and the ring bearer was Jeffrey Dartan.

The bride is a 1981 graduate of Belleville Township West High School and attended Belleville Area College in Belleville. She is employed as a customer service representative for Magna Bank of Fairview Heights.

The groom graduated in 1979 from Belleville Township West High School and in 1984 from the University of Missouri at Rolla. He is working as an electrical engineer for Union Electric Co. in St. Louis.

They are residing in Belleville.

Granite City Unit, Homemakers Extension installs

Vera Lynn was installed as president of the Granite City Unit, Homemakers Extension Association, along with other officers for the next year.

The ceremony and meeting were conducted at Nameoki Presbyterian Church by Ann Konopka. Each officer received a basket of flowers and Martha McIlvoy, the retiring president, presented the gavel to Lynn with a gift.

Other officers include Adele Wasylak, first vice president, Helen Urban, second vice president, Wilma Owca, treasurer, and Donna Lorenz, secretary.

A luncheon of Oriental cookery was furnished by hostesses Jo Uram, Stephanie Milkovich, Anna Michels and Leona Delaloye and was served to 38 members and a guest, Tami Weston.

The lesson of the day on China was given by Anna Michels and Leona Delaloye.

The new president announced Donna Lorenz was elected secretary of the district at the Venice meeting in May, and noted 23 members attended a meeting at Highland and a craft fair at Fairview Heights.

A moment of silent prayer was observed for two deceased members, Madge Ramsey and Helen Slecza.

New members introduced included Mary Bridick, Frances Bury, Marge Kacera, Ruth Lelik and Ruby Hart.

Hostesses for the next meeting will be Ruth Crawford, Frances Robbers, Irma Taylor and Laura Travis. The lesson will be on "Make Your Bones Last" and will be given by Mary Mayhugh and LeNeil Lessig. The session will be a potluck luncheon and will include a white elephant sale.

Picnic for families of firemen

The Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department held its sixth annual family picnic Sunday, June 8, at the fire station, 4113 Pontoon Road.

Country style was the theme of this year's event. Dinner was served to all firemen, junior firemen and their families. Varied games were enjoyed by all the children attending.

A trading post was opened later that afternoon for the children to trade tickets for games, prizes and candy.

Donkey rides were among the main attractions enjoyed by all.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Danny Kreher, Penny, Terry and Lorri, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Gutierrez, Kelly, Jeremy and Rachel, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Naney, Jason and Jarot, Mr. and Mrs. Skip Parmley and Brandon, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kreher, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Johnson and Gwynn and Brian.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Boushard and Joe, Amy, Jenny, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Young, Mr. and Mrs. Vince Goodman and Donnie, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kennerly and Rachel, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Alkinson and Kurt and Wendy, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Rutledge, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Rubbing and Katie, Kris, Gladys Renfrew, Molly Anenson.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Bowles and Matt, Teri and Jeannie, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Ashford, and Chip and Britanny, Mr. and Mrs. John Haynes and Rachel, Stephy and Cody, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bug and Lili Jerry, George Gavlick and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rogers and Kelly and Monica.

The event was planned by the picnic committee, Diana Naney, chairman, and Bella Kreher and Kelly Gutierrez, co-chairmen.

Church quilters at Golden Agers dinner

Quilters from Niedringhaus United Methodist Church were guests of the Golden Agers Senior Club at its June potluck dinner.

The event was held last week at the Kirkpatrick Homes Recreation Center, with 45 members and guests attending.

President Ruby Corbitt offered the invocation and introduced the quilting group members and another guest, Emylie Alford.

Hosts were Carrie Hart, Frances Jones, Caroline Lux, Elsie Stagg, Viola and Art Lindner and Mrs. Corbitt.

The afternoon was spent at games. Those excelling and winning prizes were Fred Hacke, Blanche DeBow, Mrs. Corbitt, Jennie Moody, Mrs. Lux, Evelyn Ferro and Mr. and Mrs. Lindner.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wachter

Golden anniversary noted by Mr. and Mrs. Wachter

Mr. and Mrs. John Wachter, 15 Westgate Drive, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on June 14 at a reception held at the Amvets Hall, 1711 Kennedy Drive in Madison.

Mr. Wachter and the former Kathleen Annamaria Katzman were married at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church in Mitchell on June 19, 1936, by the Rev. Timothy McKeogh.

He retired from Laclede Steel Co., Madison, where he worked for 35 years. Mrs. Wachter was a self-employed hairdresser and also worked at the Edwardsville Holiday Inn as a receptionist.

They are the parents of three, John Jacob Wachter of Chalmette, La., David George Wachter of Granite City and Mrs. Ray (Diane Catherine) Cottrell of Sullivan, Ill. They have six grandchildren.

Albrecht

Ernest Albrecht, 59, of 4056 Kathy Drive, Ill for 2 1/2 years, was pronounced dead at his home at 12:45 p.m. Sunday, June 15, 1986, by Dick Mizell, Madison County deputy coroner.

Born in Bayside, N.Y., he had lived in this area for 15 years.

He retired March 6, 1968, as a sergeant-major in the U.S. Army after 24 years of service. He was assigned to overseas duty in World War II, the Korean war and the Viet Nam war. Among his awards were the Bronze Star and Army Commendation Ribbon.

Mr. Albrecht was of the Catholic faith.

Survivors include his wife, Margaret Albrecht; and daughter, Cristel Rye, Englewood, Calif.; a son, Dieter, Germany; a brother, Edward Albrecht, Long Island, N.Y.; and three grandchildren.

There will be no visitation or services. Cremation will be at Memorial Park Cemetery, St. Louis. Mercer Mortuary, 1416 N. Main St., Granite City, is in charge of arrangements.

Barlock

Walter E. Barlock, 66, of 5125 Lehigh Drive, Pontoon Beach, Ill for one month, died at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he was a patient for three weeks.

He was born in Madison and was a lifelong resident of the local area. Mr. Barlock retired in 1982 from Granite City Steel, where he worked for 4 1/2 years in the north plant.

He was of the Catholic faith and served with the U.S. Army during World War II.

Survivors include his wife, Jeanette (Finley) Barlock; one son, the Rev. Ronald D. Barlock, Granite City; a daughter, Harry K. Barlock, DeSoto, Mo.; four daughters, Mrs. Donna J. Stevenson, St. Louis, Mrs. Steven (Deb) Spiff, Madison, Mrs. Diane Meyer, Allen Carbon, and Dawn Barlock, Granite City; two sisters, Mrs. Alec (Katherine) Kurla, Granite City, and Mrs. Cleo (Stephanie) Rogers, Madison; and 10 grandchildren.

The Rev. Scott Baker officiated at 10 a.m. services Tuesday, June 17, at Irwin Chapel for Funerals, 2801 Madison Ave. Burial was in Sunset Hill Cemetery, Edwardsville.

Ludwig

John Robert Ludwig, 29, of the Mitchell area, died of injuries sustained in a tractor accident and was pronounced dead at the scene at 11:45 a.m. Friday, June 13, 1986, by Dick Mizell, Madison County deputy coroner.

The accident occurred east of Water Works Road in Chouteau Township, where Mr. Ludwig was digging for a pond in conjunction with his business, the Chain of Rocks Ski Association.

He was operating a tractor that overturned in a ditch which was filled with water. He was pinned beneath the vehicle. It is believed the cause of death was drowning, authorities said.

Officials said Mr. Ludwig and his partner were working in the area on Thursday night. After they stopped work for the evening, Mr. Ludwig apparently decided to resume the task.

He lived alone on the property. The next day, when he did not appear for work, his partner and another went to look for him.

He was employed as a mechanic for the Clark Boat and Motor Co. in East St. Louis.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William P. (Beverly) Ludwig of Rosewood Heights; three brothers, James Ludwig of Tuscola, Ill., and Larry Ludwig and William Ludwig Jr., both of Rosewood Heights; and a grandmother, Sadie P. Ludwig of Alton.

The Rev. Nancy Graft officiated at 11 a.m. services Monday, June 16, at Marks Funeral Home, 633 E. Lyons, Wood River. Burial was at Rosewood Memorial Gardens, Edwardsville.

Meadows

Donald G. Meadows, 56, of 3140 Princeton Drive, Ill since March 1986, died at 12:51 p.m. Saturday, June 14, 1986, at St. John Mercy Hospital, St. Louis. He was hospitalized on Thursday.

A lifelong resident of Granite City, Mr. Meadows retired in 1981 from Granite City Steel, where he worked for 32 years in the north plant. He presently was employed by Lantier Courier Co.

Mr. Meadows was a member of Central Christian Church and Masonic Lodge 877.

Survivors include his wife, Eva (Roberson) Meadows; one daughter, Nancy Meadows, residing at home; a sister, Mrs. John (Marie) Gorton, Granite City; and his mother, Mrs. Nannie (LeMaster) Meadows, Edwardsville.

The Rev. Manuel Tamayo will officiate at 10 a.m. services today, June 18, at Irwin Chapel for Funerals. Burial will be at Sunset Hill Cemetery, Edwardsville.

Konzen on BAC board

By Bill Winter
Staff writer

BELLEVIEWE — Leo H. Konzen of Granite City was appointed Monday night as a member of the Board of Trustees of Belleville Area College.

The veteran local attorney, a member of the Lueders, Robertson and Konzen law firm, will immediately assume the board position vacated when Patricia Bartokas resigned.

The next meeting of the seven trustees is set for Wednesday, June 25.

Konzen was chosen for the board on a 5-0 vote, with Elizabeth Jenner voting present. The student member of the board also supported the selection of Konzen.

Vice chairman of the governing board of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Konzen has been active in the Tri-Cities Area United Way, Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and other organizations here.

He is a board member of the Southwestern Illinois Leadership Council, which was created to spur job growth and economic development in this region.

Konzen is the only current member of the BAC board from Madison County; the others reside in St. Clair County.

The multi-county community college is studying a public taxing body, operates major campuses in Belleville, Granite City and Red Bud as well as many extension centers, including one in Madison.

Illinois hands help hungry, homeless with $2 million

Several weeks after Hands Across America on May 25, organizers believe two of the three major goals have been met and they hope the third will be achieved later this summer.

Illinois had 500,000 participants with $1,356,154 donated and an additional $703,357 pledged.

Those who joined hands totaled 5,602,860 across the U.S. and $36 million has been raised, latest figures show.

The primary goals were: to increase public awareness about hunger and homelessness in the United States and to create momentum for further action by communities and groups across the country; to raise $50 million to combat hunger and homelessness in America; and to form a 4,152-mile human link from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean.

Media coverage of the event and the issues has been extensive.

A major TV network aired a five-part series on hunger and homelessness. A national weekly news magazine featured two pages on hands across America and an additional four pages about the issues.

The primary goal of Hands Across America is even more important than the money raised — it is continued news coverage of the issues," said Ken Kragen, HAA project organizer. "The ongoing media attention will help to remind Americans that these problems will not go away without their involvement. May 25 only symbolizes the beginning of a new age in domestic activism."

With hopes of raising at least $50 million, Hands Across America has brought in a gross total of $36,444,533 through pledges and contributions. To date, $27,824,937 has been actually received in cash, with another $8,619,596 outstanding in pledges.

Donations are still coming in on the toll-free number 1-800-USA-3000, which will be active through the remainder of 1986.

Other revenue is expected through the sale of Hands Across merchandise, a book about the event to be released later this summer, a television special and a variety of continuing corporate programs.

Several million pledge envelopes were distributed to participants on the day of the event, and those contributions are still being received. Organizers are urging the May 25 participants — as well as others willing to help — to send contributions for Hands Across America, 7707 American Ave., Marshfield, Wis. 54472.

"We expected a last-minute surge of people to take part in Hands Across America, and that is exactly what happened," said Marty Rogol, executive director of USA for Africa. "More than 60 percent of the people participating on May 25 just showed up, and we encourage everyone who had a positive experience on that day to make a contribution."

As of June 9, direct operating expenses, which were budgeted as high as $14 million, were less than plans for a high school English class as part of its summer school program when a qualified teacher could not be found who was available to teach the course.

A tentative school calendar for 1986-87, compiled by the board, calls for Vespene pupils to return to school Tuesday, Aug. 26.

A teachers' workshop is scheduled on Monday, Aug. 25. Two other teacher institute days are listed in the new calendar for Feb. 20 and March 27.

HALF-DAY PARENT-teacher conferences will take place on Oct. 24 and March 20.

Classes will be dismissed on Sept. 1 for Labor Day, Oct. 13 for Columbus Day, Nov. 11 for Veterans' Day and Nov. 27 and 28 for the Thanksgiving holidays.

Christmas holidays will start on Dec. 19, with classes resuming on Jan. 5.

There will be no school on Dr. Martin Luther King's birthday Jan. 19, Abraham Lincoln's birthday Feb. 12, and Casimir Pulaski Day, March 2.

Spring vacation is scheduled April 13-21, and the Memorial Day holiday will be May 25, 1987. The 1986-87 school year will officially end on June 12.

• Annex idea not halted by all

Court Associate Judge Edward Ferguson to set aside his May 29 ruling allowing the annexation.

STERLING SAID the motion is on behalf of property owners Gordon Gass, Tom and Betty Foster, Dean Faber and William Nichols.

Sterling said if the motion is successful, would nullify the village board's action Tuesday night.

The property owners do not want their land included in the annexation.

Sterling said Pontoon Beach officials spoke with Gass about the move, but did not consult the Fosters or Faber. He said he was not sure if Nichols had been approached by the village before the annexation.

FERGUSON related Wednesday he had not yet received a copy of amount per family for utility extensions," he said. "We've never had to entice people. They come to us."

The Pontoon village board voted solely in favor of the 2,400-acre annexation. Trustees Don Rea and Keith Biggs were not at the meeting.

PONTON MAYOR Glen Wilson said police began patrolling the annexed area on Wednesday morning.

Wilson said the village recently added one police officer and intends to add another soon.

THE TRACT annexed includes an area parallel to State Aid 35, including land near its interchange with I-255. Wilson previously said the interchange was included in the annexation.

Brombolich has said he would not rule out annexation of the I-255-State Aid 35 interchange to Collinsville, but said there are no plans to do so.

The Pontoon Beach annexation includes 118 acres of McDonough Lake, Gray's Farm, an area adjacent to Shane's Farm, a Fossan Memorial Park and 1,255's interchanges at Illinois 162 and Interstate 270.

The village was previously about six square miles. With the annexation, Pontoon Beach now totals about 15 square miles.

State will push recycling

A newly-proposed $10 million solid waste management program — to reduce reliance on land disposal — seeks to promote the development of alternative means and new technologies to handle solid waste.

"The land is one of our greatest natural resources," Gov. James R. Thompson said. "Illinois has been blessed with an abundance of energy-producing reserves which have supported our industrial growth for generations."

"But there is a price to pay for this vast industrial development and the high standard of living we enjoy in Illinois. It comes in the form of solid waste and it is a problem we must deal with on a daily basis."

"We are approaching a time when our land and the environment can no longer accommodate waste management with landfills alone. This is a circumstance which requires thought and planning, but also presents challenge and opportunity."

"We are challenged to develop new technologies for waste management. And, if we use that technology wisely, we can seize the opportunity to lead in the development of new businesses in an emerging recycling industry."

"We have the resources to do just that in partnership with our universities, private industry and local governments."

The administration's plan advocates meeting objectives in descending order for solid waste management, including source reduction, recycling, resource recovery, incineration and landfilling.

To accomplish these goals, the state will offer:

- Recycling grants to encourage increased recycling and reuse of waste products.
- Planning grants and technical assistance to local governments to address solid waste management.
- Research and development to find alternative waste disposal techniques and to develop new industries. Particular attention will be given to involving the University of Illinois and other universities, as well as private industry and local governments.
- Expansion of the Industrial Materials Exchange Service, which is run by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, to facilitate increased recycling of waste products. The Service currently matches industrial waste producers with industries that can use waste products in their own manufacturing processes.

Joint development by the Departments of Central Management Services and Energy and Natural Resources of a pilot recycling program within state government by Jan. 1, 1987.

To pay for the program, the state is to establish a Solid Waste Management Fund. The EPA would collect a fee on solid waste disposed in each sanitary landfill from Jan. 1, 1987, through June 30, 1989.

Fees would range from $500 for up to 10,000 cubic yards of non-hazardous solid waste received at a site in a calendar year to $25,000 for solid waste measuring between 100,000 and 150,000 cubic yards in a year. If more than 150,000 cubic yards of waste is received in a year, the owner would pay 45 cents per cubic yard or 95 cents per ton.

These fees could generate $10 million annually for use in the solid waste management program. "This is the first step in meeting our long-term goals," Thompson said. "By January 1989, we will assess the program and determine if further expansion is needed to solve environmental problems, support needed research, promote emerging recycling businesses and finance construction of alternative treatment technologies."

The state already has taken some steps to meet the environmental concerns of communities regarding the disposal of wastes. In 1984, liquid hazardous waste was banned from disposal in landfills.

Beginning Jan. 1, 1987, no hazardous waste will be allowed in landfills, land treatment areas, surface impoundments, waste piles and underground injection wells. In 1984, about 217 million gallons of solid hazardous waste were disposed of in Illinois by these methods.

In addition, the state administration has backed legislation now pending before the General Assembly to give the EPA administrative order authority. Under this legislation, the EPA would be able to issue tickets for non-compliance with landfill regulations, making enforcement more timely and effective.

The solid waste management program will be introduced to the General Assembly in House Bill 3548, sponsored by Senators Jack Schafer of Crystal Lake, Jerome Joyce of Redick and Aldo DeAngelis of Olympia Fields. In the House, the legislation will be sponsored by John Hallock of Rockford and Jill Zwick of Elgin.

"The questions of waste management must be addressed now, before they become problems of crisis proportion. But in seeking solutions to these problems, we will also find new avenues for business development," Thompson said.

New attractions, a new look and a new spirit has St. Louisans saying to neighbors,

You Should See Us Now

By Deborah Reinhardt
Journal Staff Writer

It's 6 p.m. Friday and you're the only one left in your office. A glaring, lonely light from the lamp over your head bears down hard on your desk full of papers. You'd rather be facing restaurant lines than deadlines, but the project is due next week. Finally, you are tired of pushing a pencil. Gathering the papers in your arms, you toss the clutter into the air and push your chair away from the desk.

It's the weekend, and you need some fun.

Good for you! Now that your emancipation has arrived, what do you do with it?

Come to St. Louis. Your neighbors in the Gateway City have plenty to entertain you and your family.

"The reason people in Illinois have to come is there are so many new things," said Carole Moody, director of tourism for the St. Louis Convention and Visitors Commission.

St. Louis Centre and Union Station are the newest downtown sites. But the city has hundreds of attractions from north to south, east to west.

With domestic travel on the upswing and a national trend in families opting for several weekend trips instead of extended two-week vacations, Moody expects more visitors in St. Louis this season.

Although July and August are the busiest tourism months for St. Louis, Moody's office is working on a winter promotion that could offer savings up to 50 percent.

This travel supplement lists many attractions that would interest visitors. To receive a copy of a visitor's guide, write to St. Louis Convention and Visitors Commission, 10 S. Broadway, Suite 300, St. Louis 63102 or call (800) 325-7962.

HISTORIC PLACES

ARTS/ENTERTAINMENT

Anheuser-Busch Brewery Tours—1127 Pestalozzi, 577-2626. A one-hour tour includes a stop in the hospitality room for a taste. This six-story brew house, a national historic landmark, dates back to 1891. Hours: Memorial Day to Oct. 11, Monday through Saturday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.; remainder of year Monday through Friday, 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Closed Sundays and holidays. Free.

Bardene Wine Cellars—1019 Skinker Parkway, 862-1400. Wine tasting, a museum and review of wine making process are part of a free tour. Tours by appointment only.

Gateway Arch—(Jefferson National Expansion Memorial, National Park Service) Offices: 11 N. Fourth St., 425-4465 or 425-5097. The 630-foot Arch is the nation's tallest memorial. Museum contains extensive exhibits of American frontier west. Films and live programs are presented in the theater. Free. Each leg of the Arch has a passenger tram to carry visitors to an observation room at the top. A ride to the top is $1.50 for adults and 50 cents for children 12 to 3; under 3 free. Season: Open daily, except Thanksgiving, Christmas Day and New Year's Day. Tram hours: Memorial Day through Labor Day, 8 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.; winter, 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Grant's Farm—10501 Gravois, 843-1700. Anheuser-Busch Co. operates and maintains this show place on land once farmed by our 18th president, General Ulysses S. Grant. Restored cabin, built by Grant in 1856 is open to public. Ride aboard trackless train through the game preserve. Visit the Bauernhof containing the trophy room, the riding horse stables and collection of horse drawn carriages and sleighs. A miniature zoo, bird show, small animal feeding area and Clydesdales stallion barn. Season: April, May, September and October, Thursday through Sunday, June through August Tuesday through Sunday. Six tours daily. Free, but reservations are required.

Missouri Botanical Garden—334 Shaw, 577-5100. One of the most beautiful and unique botanical gardens in the United States, this national historic landmark was founded in 1859 by Henry Shaw. The Climatron, the world's first geodesic domed greenhouse, houses tropical plants, Mediterranean, desert houses, and innkeeper house (carnelias), combined with ginkgo, flower, woodland, and scented gardens makes Shaw's Garden a popular place with St. Louis visitors and residents. The largest traditional Japanese garden in north America incorporates a four-acre lake, islands, foot bridges, waterfalls, lanterns, and tea house.

Hours: Memorial Day thru Labor Day 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Remainder of year, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission: 13 years and older $1, 12 and under free. Senior citizens free. Wednesday and Saturday free until 12 p.m.

St. Louis Wax Museum—Second and Morgan, 241-1155. More than 150 wax figures—including movie stars, presidents, sports stars, and religious leaders—are on display. Open 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Saturday; 11 to 10 p.m. Sunday. Admission: adults $3, children 7 to 12 $2. Group rates available.

St. Louis Zoological Park—Forest Park, 781-0900. Visit more than 2,500 animals in 83 acres that include settings with bluffs, woods, ponds, lakes and glades. Big Cat Country is a spacious naturalistic home for lions, tigers, and leopards. The Jungle of the Apes, housing gorillas, chimpanzees and orangutans, opened June 14. Visit the 3½ acre Children's Zoo for a special close experience for children and adults. Ride the Zooline Railroad. Open all year. Hours: 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Free.

Laclede Landing Located between I-70 and the Mississippi River and nestled between Eads and Dr. Martin Luther King Bridges, (314) 241-5875. Situated on the last remaining example of the original street pattern laid out when St. Louis was founded as a French trading village in 1764, the renovated and revitalized 19th-century warehouse district is bustling with excitement and activity.

Cobblestone streets and cast iron streetlamps surround dozens of century-old buildings housing offices, small shops and boutiques, unusual restaurants and a collection of nightspots that make this one of the city's premier entertainment districts.

First State Capitol State Historic Site, 206-214 S. Main St., St. Charles, 1-723-3266. When Missouri became a state in 1821 the first governor and legislature moved into offices in this building. It was restored in 1961 and is now open to the public. Open Monday through Saturday, 10 a.m.-4 p.m.; Sunday, 12-4 p.m.

St. Louis Art Museum Forest Park, (314) 721-0067. This impressive building sits atop Art Hill in Forest Park guarded by a 47-foot statue of St. Louis the Crusader who sits astride his horse. The museum was the Fine Arts Palace of the 1904 World's Fair, the only major building of permanent materials of the fair's 1,576 structures. The museum has more than 70 galleries of art treasures with works representing cultures of the last 3,000 years. Open 1:30 p.m.-

3:30 p.m. Tuesday; 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday. Closed Mondays, Christmas and New Year's Day. Cafe des Beaux Arts Restaurant open 10 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday; 11 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Sunday; 10 a.m.-3 p.m. Tuesday.

Missouri Historical Society Jefferson Memorial Building, Forest Park, (314) 361-1424. Renowned and colorful exhibits on the history of St. Louis, the state of Missouri and the American west features 100 years of St. Louis advertising, the 1904 World's Fair, volunteer firefighting, the pageantry of the Veiled Prophet, plus an extensive collection of firearms and Lindbergh memorabilia. Hours Tuesday through Sunday 9:30 a.m.-4:45 p.m. Closed Monday. Free. To arrange guided tours Tuesday Friday or make appointments for group tours call the Education Department at (314) 361-9255.

Mother's information directs baby's food choice

No matter what the style or recommendation by pediatricians of the day, the old maxim that "mother knows her baby best" usually proves true, says Lynn E. Appleby, a representative of Gerber Products Co.

Her own experience as a registered nurse in a neonatal intensive care unit, as mother of a 10-month-old child and as marketing representative who deals with pediatricians and nurse practitioners leads her to believe that science usually follows what mothers already know.

"Mothers seem to have a lot of information. Later the world finds it is scientifically validated. This applies to feeding infants," she says, as "the pendulum (of recommendations) swings one direction, then another."

Now a pediatrician may say that a child who is happy and contented while growing normally will be satisfied by mother's milk or formula for as long as four to six months of life. Thus, it is not necessary to introduce solid foods until then.

Appleby says there are several indications that a baby is ready for baby food. If a baby appears to be dissatisfied due to hunger, a mother usually can tell. If one quart of formula is not enough and baby wants to breast-feed more than eight to 10 times during a 24-hour period, it is time to offer something in addition to the milk.

Another indication is when a baby doubles his birth weight. If a baby spurts up to about 15 pounds, he may not get enough nutrients in the milk to curb his appetite.

On the other hand, even in an older baby, if he normally sleeps through the night and is not crying for food more than he should by day, mother can relax and know that the feeding pattern is working. In this case she probably should not upset it.

Although baby food can be made at home, most mothers opt for the convenience and reliability of the canned product. Although there is some dry baby food on the market now and it is popular in Europe, Gerber's test marketing has shown that American consumers here have not been ready to accept it.

Bought baby food will stay fresh two to three days in the refrigerator, in a refrigerator under proper care. "I have had lots of people say the day after it was opened it was watery. Just putting the spoon back in the jar with the enzymes in there that the baby was digesting will do that," says Appleby.

When ready to serve baby food from a jar, always check the safe button on top. Rinse off the jar so there is no contamination when handling it. Listen for a slight "pop" when the jar opens. Spoon the amount that will be used out of the jar before the actual feeding to avoid bacteria building up.

Using the progression of foods marketed by Gerber as an example, a baby works his way from breast milk or formula up through chunky foods and on to table foods.

Appleby says diet histories of infants taken every four years have shown that iron is the nutrient babies still do not take enough, particularly toward the

Cup of Coffee

By Janice Denham

End of the first year when their appetites lessen. As a result, more iron is present in the packaged baby cereals to help counteract this deficiency.

Once single-ingredient fruits, vegetables and meats are added, each should be introduced separately at intervals of not less than three days. This gives the infant's body a chance to react to the food. Sometimes an allergy will be indicated and can be traced easily as the change in diet.

Strained combination foods usually come next. These still have no salt added, keeping down the body's tendency to request salt at a level to which it becomes accustomed.

Junior foods come with the ability to chew more, usually at seven to nine months. They gradually yield to chunky foods, which also mean table foods.

Appleby says, "We don't try to have and how much chewing they do. The sequence is pretty much the aim."

She explains that consistency is controlled in the products that are not completely strained. The food is strained in stages, so some of the chunkier parts that were not strained so closely are thrown back in.

"It is not as easy as taking what you eat and just squishing it." The fillers used in baby foods come under scrutiny by modern mothers.

Appleby says the filler used offers better consistency. The reason tapioca is chosen often is to avoid other starches, like those from wheat, that tend to aggravate allergies. It is digestible by babies, well tolerated, allows less usage as a filler and does not separate when left on the shelf unused.

Baby food also is formulated in combination foods like a table meal would be. That also accounts for variations in starches that are used. Juices are not adult food watered down. The concentration of vitamins remains high and the consistency is made tolerable for an infant. Baby food companies are always willing to help mothers work their way through feeding dilemmas.

Stir-fry beef

Stir-fry dinners stand taste of time

Quick and easy stir-fry dinners solve many meal dilemmas. Whether the cook is simply too tired to cook after a busy day or time and light are wasting away, stir-fry foods offer colorful, appealing nourishment. They are light, fresh and fast.

In this flank steak skillet, the fresh, vibrant red and green peppers combine with golden peaches for an attractive, nutritious dinner in minutes. Both peppers and peaches contribute significant amounts of Vitamins A and C, with the peaches adding niacin, riboflavin and iron as well. Peaches have a slightly sweet, firm golden flesh that works well in quick stir-fry dishes. They can combine color, flavor and good nutrition without mushiness in the convenience of a can.

Steam rice while the beef is being prepared for a fast, one-dish meal.

- 1 can (16 oz.) peach slices in juice or extra light syrup
- 1 lb. flank steak
- 2 tbsp. butter
- 1 cup onion wedges
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 cup red pepper strips
- 1 cup green pepper strips
- 1/2 cup white wine
- 2 tbsp. cornstarch
- 2 tbsp. soy sauce
- 1 tsp. Dijon mustard
- 1/2 tsp. thyme
- 1/2 tsp. marjoram
- Hot fluffy rice

Drain peaches, reserving all liquid.

Cut steak into 1/4-inch diagonal strips across the grain of the meat. Heat a 10-inch skillet quickly browning meat in butter over high heat. Remove meat. Set aside.

Saute onion and garlic. Stir in meat, drained peach slices and red and green peppers.

Blend reserved peach liquid with wine, cornstarch, soy sauce, mustard, thyme and marjoram. Cook sauce in skillet, stirring constantly, until thickened.

Spoon over hot fluffy rice to serve.

Makes 4 servings.

Oranges, walnuts make tempting torte

- eggs, separated
- cup sugar
- cup walnut halves
- tbsp. orange liqueur
- tbsp. orange peel
- tsp. salt
- pt. vanilla ice cream, softened 10 minutes
- can (11 oz.) mandarin oranges, drained

Beat egg whites with food processor or electric mixer. Set aside.

Beat egg yolks, sugar, walnuts, orange liqueur, orange peel and salt until smooth. Remove to large bowl.

Fold egg whites into walnut mixture.

Pour batter into two greased and floured 8-inch cake pans. Bake at 350° for 25 to 30 minutes. Cool in pans 10 minutes, then remove and cool on wire racks.

Cut completely through one cake layer, leaving a 1-inch wide rim. Remove the 7-inch round and cut into 8 wedges.

Place uncut cake layer onto platter. Spread with 1/2-inch layer softened ice cream. Place 1-inch wide cake rim on ice cream.

Spoon remaining ice cream into center of cake rim. Arrange cake wedges on ice cream center.

Freeze until firm, about 1 hour. Garnish with mandarin oranges before serving.

Yields 8 servings.

Banana shake with chocolate

- 1 pt. chocolate ice cream
- 2 medium-ripe bananas in chunks
- 1/2 cup light corn syrup
- 1/2 cup milk

Place ice cream, bananas, syrup and milk in blender container. Cover. Blend on high speed 1 minute or until smooth and frothy. Makes 4 servings.

Shrimp marinara

Shrimp marinara with pasta

8 oz. medium shrimp, peeled and deveined, thawed (See Note)
 1/2 cup chopped onion
 2 tbsp. chopped green pepper
 1 clove garlic, crushed
 2 tbsp. oil
 1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
 1/2 can (3 oz.) tomato paste

1/2 cup water
 1 tsp. sugar
 1/2 tsp. basil
 1/2 tsp. oregano
 1/8 tsp. pepper
 Cooked pasta

Cook onion, green pepper and garlic in hot oil until tender in 1-quart skillet or soup pot.

 Add tomato sauce, tomato paste, water, sugar, basil, oregano and pepper. Cover and simmer 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add shrimp. Cover and simmer about 3 minutes longer or until shrimp are tender.

Round up the beef, Texas-style

4 to 5 lb. boneless beef brisket (See Note)
 1 cup ketchup
 1/2 cup brown sugar
 2 tbsp. prepared mustard
 2 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce
 1 tsp. hot pepper sauce
 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
 2 tsp. flour

Combine ketchup, brown sugar, prepared mustard, Worcestershire sauce, hot pepper sauce and cinnamon. Combine 1/2 cup ketchup mixture with flour. Cover and refrigerate remaining sauce.

Place brisket in large cooking bag and brush ketchup-flour mixture over both sides. Press air from bag. Tie securely.

Place bag containing meat in center of a double-thick rectangle of heavy-duty aluminum foil (twice the circumference and 8 inches longer than brisket).

Bring 2 opposite sides of foil together over top of meat. Fold edges over 3 to 4 times, pressing in crease tightly each time. Flatten foil at one end, crease to form triangle and fold edge over several times toward package, pressing tightly to seal. Repeat procedure on other end.

Texas-style beef brisket

Place on grill. Cook at low temperature 4 1/2 to 5 hours, turning every hour.

Carefully open foil packet and cooking bag. Pour off drippings into saucepan.

Add reserved sauce to drippings. Cook slowly until thoroughly heated.

Brush brisket with sauce. Place on grill. Cook 10 to 15 minutes, turning and brushing with sauce occasionally.

Carve in thin slices diagonally across the grain. Serve sauce with slices of brisket.

Makes 12 to 15 servings.
 Note: A boneless chuck pot roast, about 2 inches thick, can be substituted for the brisket.

Rice salad

This rice salad lets you 'zest easy'

2 cups water
2 tbsp. butter or margarine
1 pkg. (6 1/2 oz.) quick cooking long grain and wild rice
3 tbsp. red wine vinegar
1/8 tsp. garlic powder
1/4 cup oil
1 lb. Canadian bacon or cooked ham, cut into 1-by-1/2 inch strips
1 lb. Monterey Jack cheese, cut into 1/2 inch cubes
1 small red onion, cut into very thin rings (about 1/2 cup)
1 small red or green bell pepper, cut into short thin strips
Lettuce leaves
Combine water, butter and contents of rice and seasoning packets in medium saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil. Cover tightly. Simmer until all water is absorbed, about 5 minutes. Meanwhile, combine vinegar and garlic powder. Whisk in oil. Add dressing to cooked rice. Stir gently to coat.
Stir in bacon, cheese, onion and pepper. Cover. Refrigerate until chilled.
Stir before serving. Serve on lettuce leaves.
Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Quick-cooking oats in oatmeal cookies

1 cup oil
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
1 1/2 cups flour
1 cup quick-cooking oats
1/2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 cup coarsely chopped nuts
In large bowl with mixer at medium speed, beat oil, sugar, eggs and vanilla until thick. Add flour, oats, baking powder, salt and cinnamon. Beat at low speed until blended. Stir in nuts. Drop by level tablespoons 2 inches apart on greased cookie sheet. Bake in 350° oven 12 to 15 minutes or until browned. Makes about 3 1/2 dozen.

To make a burger that tastes like you made it from scratch, you have to start from scratch.

Toss everything out. Start all over again. Whether it was the way we'd always done it, or the way everyone else still does it, tough luck. The idea here is to make it better burger.

Our grills were the first to bite the dust. In their place, new ones, custom-designed to cook at a lower, more even temperature. So our new burgers stay thicker, full of natural juices.

Next came the beef. Some places ship theirs in frozen from Australia or South America, only to be thawed, packed into patties, refrozen and shipped again. We decided to stay closer to home. As in 100% pure American beef. Finally, to form that beef into patties, we came up with a contraption that uses about half the usual pressure. Gently shaping it. Instead of pounding it into submission.

Was it worth it? To find out, simply sink your teeth into our scrumptious new Big Deluxe™ Burger. Our succulent new 1/4 lb. Cheeseburger. Our zippy new Bacon Cheeseburger. We think you'll think they taste about as close to scratch as you can come without actually making it yourself.

And isn't that something you've been itching for?

Mickey Mouse and pals to entertain at V.P. Fair

This is a story of mice and men, of women and children.

The V.P. Fair Foundation has contracted with Walt Disney Attractions to perform five shows under the Arch during this year's V.P. Fair.

Chuck Wallace, president and executive director of the V.P. Fair Foundation, said the fair last year stressed family attractions. The Disney shows will enhance previous efforts.

"We want to improve America's biggest birthday party as also a family gathering," Wallace said. "This is a great impetus to bring the family to the V.P. Fair."

Mickey Mouse will be Grand Marshall for the parade, which begins at 6:30 p.m. July 3.

A number of Walt Disney characters—including Mickey Mouse, Minnie Mouse, Donald Duck, Goofy, and Pluto—will be featured in a 30-minute musical revue saluting memorable Disney motion pictures. Five free shows will be performed on the main stage—at 2 p.m. on July 4 and at 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. on July 5 and July 6.

Ten singers and dancers, eight musicians and 12 to 15 Disney characters will be in the shows. Some of the songs in the show will be "Zip A Dee Doo Dah," "Bibbidi Bobbidi Boo" and "When You Wish Upon A Star."

Tom Trancredi, manager of Walt Disney Attractions at Disneyland, said this will be the first time the Disneyland show has been brought to St. Louis. He said the shows will fit in with the fair's efforts to create a family image for the event.

Disneyland and the V.P. Fair have been negotiating the contract since January. The agreement was reached six weeks ago, Trancredi said.

Corporate sponsors for the Disney shows are the Brown Group, Kentucky Fried Chicken of Greater St. Louis and Illinois, Fred Weber Inc. and Wetterau Inc.

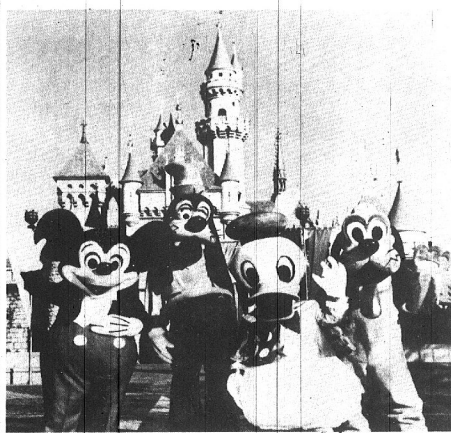

The children's village also will be expanded this year, said Allyn Glaub, V.P. Fair spokesman. Six Flags, Mattell and Boatmen's Bank are sponsoring the village.

In addition to providing attractions for children, V.P. Fair officials are concerned about safety.

Southwestern Bell this year will provide a child with an identification bracelet. Parents may bring their children to the lost child tent to receive the free bracelets, which will contain the child's name and phone number.

Glaub said about 90 children a day were lost at previous fairs, although they always were reunited with parents.

Glaub reminded parents who plan to bring children to the fair to protect the youngsters from the sun and heat and to cover the heads of infants.

Mickey Mouse and pals

They hope apes do it, too

If all goes as expected, things will be jumping soon at the new Great Ape House at the St. Louis Zoo.

Actually, zoo director Charles Hoessle is hoping the gorillas, chimpanzees and orangutans get involved in some close encounters.

Their new $3 million home in St. Louis has three separate indoor habitats with natural settings—an atmosphere that zoo officials hope will be conducive to breeding.

The idea is to convince the animals that they have been returned to their homes, not just moved to another zoo.

Four gorillas arrived at the new facility last week on indefinite loan from the Lincoln Park Zoo in Chicago. The two males and two females are western lowland gorillas.

Fred, who is 28, probably is unable to reproduce anymore, but his son, JoJo, is only 6. JoJo betrayed his youth last week by bellowing loudly and piteously when he arrived at his new home.

So far, Fred has been docile in his new surroundings, but last month in Chicago, he escaped from his pen when a gate accidentally was left open.

The 325-pound gorilla then bit the keeper who left the door open. The two females also are youngsters: Kivu is 7½ and Matadi is 4. Both are approaching breeding age, Hoessle said.

Like JoJo, Matadi was distressed by her move to St. Louis. During the trip to St. Louis, she showered herself with straw and pounded on her wooden cage.

Hoessle said the future of the quartet looks good. They seem to be extremely compatible, he said.

Other tenants in the new house include a breeding group of six chimps recently returned to St. Louis after spending several months at the Cleveland Zoo while their new home was being completed.

Eight orangutans also came home after a sabbatical at zoos in Miami and Topeka, Kan. They previously reproduced in St. Louis.

Reproduction in captivity is vital because all three species have been declared endangered by the U.S. and international zoological organizations, Hoessle said.

The new gorillas replace Rudy, Trudy and Muck, who failed to mate while in St. Louis.

Theater workshop offered

Summer Stock '86, a theater workshop, is being offered June 9 through July 29 by the Performing Arts Area of Washington University.

The workshop offers courses in performance and production, and the opportunity to work in the world premiere of an original musical. Tuition for each course is $450. Each is a three credit hour course. Enrollment is recommended by instructors.

The play, "Flying High! A Tale of Two Partners," is an original full-length musical about the uneasy partnership of John James Audubon and Ferdinand Rozier and their adventures in French colonial Ste. Genevieve, Mo.

Participants will rehearse at the university and then move to Ste. Genevieve on July 20 through 27 to perform. The production will be presented in the newly restored Orris Theatre in downtown Ste. Genevieve. For more information call 889-6720.

Suburban Journals' Essay Contest Continues Through June 20

There's just a short time remaining to enter the Suburban Journals Liberty Essay Contest. The deadline for your entry is June 20.

One talented child will win a $50 U.S. savings bond and 10 youngsters will find themselves and their families in box seats at the V.P. Fair for the annual fireworks extravaganza July 4 through 6.

Those are the prizes in store for the winning entries in the essay contest.

In 25 words or less, youngsters 11 and younger should answer the question "What does liberty mean to me?"

Ten entries will be selected as finalists from around the metropolitan area, and those finalists, along with their immediate families, will watch fireworks at the V.P. Fair from the Suburban Journals' hospitality box July 4, 5 or 6. The overall winner will also receive the U.S. savings bond.

For the first time this year, the V.P. Fair fireworks displays are sponsored by the Suburban Journals.

Half-price bus pass

The Bi-State Transit Division of the Bi-State Development Agency will offer a weekly bus pass for half-price during the week of the VP Fair to encourage fair-goers to avoid traffic jams by leaving their cars at home.

The weekly pass will cost $5—a savings compared to the regularly priced pass—and will be valid from June 30 through July 6.

The pass will be available for purchase at all pass outlets beginning June 26. The weekly pass provides an unlimited number of rides on local, rapid and park-ride service Mondays through Sundays.

With the exception of the discounted weekly pass, regularly scheduled bus service will be available at normal fares.

"Bi-State is offering this specially priced weekly pass to give VP Fair visitors an option to avoid traffic hassles, and to encourage those who haven't ridden the bus lately to try the system," said R. Raleigh D'Adamo, executive director.

"With this pass you can go to the fair or any other place as many times as you want to. And by riding the bus, you contribute to reduced traffic congestion."

For more information, Bi-State Transit Information can be contacted at 875-4144.

Richard Simmons shows why he's known for being enthusiastic

RICHARD SIMMONS provides hands-on encouragement.

Dressed in black and white striped shorts, white tennis shoes and a pullover shirt, Fitness Expert Richard Simmons bounced into the Project START Center for "physically challenged" adults.

Known for his enthusiasm and zeal about fitness, Simmons wasn't there for just another exercise class. He was there to get the mind, spirit and body of the participants moving.

"Lock your wheelchairs! Let's get going!" shouted Simmons as he moved around the room, kissing and shaking hands with those in his enthusiastic audience. "Besides getting your buns moving, exercise can save your life, make you feel good and give you energy."

Simmons playfully scolded some of the physically disabled adults for gaining weight in their "tummies," and then admonished the smug-looking, physically able adults who were leaning against the walls, telling them that they too needed to exercise.

"You've got to exercise every day," he said. "You may get hit by a Star Line truck tomorrow, but you have today. So let's make the best of it."

As Simmons and the participants moved their arms and clapped their hands to the music, "Happy Talk," Simmons shared his philosophy on life with them.

"I want you all to know that you are very special. There is no one like you anywhere in the world. You are right up there below the angels and don't let anyone tell you any different," he said.

Simmons, who by his own admission once weighed well over 200 pounds, knows what it feels like to be shunned by able-bodied people because of his "packaging."

"When I was in eighth grade all the kids made fun of me because of my weight—all except Bernie," said Simmons, obviously remembering the pain of it all. "Bernie had cerebral palsy and was in a wheelchair. He and I became good friends and spent many hours talking. We began to look at life differently, and we shared something that the able-bodied missed. We learned how important it was to keep our spirits up and believe in ourselves."

Exercise, Simmons believes, is the key to keeping the spirit, mind and body fit. But he found that there were few "well-equipped, fun-filled" exercise facilities available for the physically challenged. (Simmons owns his own chain of more than 100 exercise salons, known as "Anatomy Asylums.") That's when he came up with the idea for his latest book, "Reach For Fitness: A Special Book of Exercise for the Physically Challenged."

"I wanted to do something for the physically challenged, but I didn't want to beg for the money," Simmons said. So he went to Warner Books, the publisher of his last two books, "Never Say Diet Book" and "Richard Simmons' Better Body Book" with his idea.

All proceeds from the publication, including the publisher's, go to the Reach Foundation, a not-for-profit corporation for the establishment of community and hospital-based exercise studios for the physically challenged.

This, according to Simmons, is the first time a publisher has given all the money to charity. "And I didn't have to beg for it, he said."

Simmons oozed with excitement as he talked about what he hoped to accomplish with the success of his book. "I want everyone to know about your plight," Simmons told his captivated audience. "Your body has special stresses. You have to know up front that exercise and nutrition are the best insurance policies you can have. And you need to have the facilities to do it in. But most of all you have to make a promise to yourself to do this faithfully."

All the time Simmons spoke, he kept the exercises going, not missing any movements. Then slowly Simmons brought the workout session to a close by having everyone close their eyes and breathe deeply.

In a soothing voice, Simmons said, "Make a promise to be kind to yourself and others. And remember how precious life is and how we should cherish it. And together we can help each other."

Health care delivery challenge

By Dr. Patricia R. Forni

District 10 of the Illinois Nurse Association. This article reports the findings of a study of nursing care delivery in non-institutional settings in Sweden and Finland.

It was done under the auspices of a World Health Organization Travel/Study Fellowship. The goal of the study was to uncover cost-effective delivery methods and means of accessibility to health care that could be applied in the United States.

The investigation was suggested by the findings of a six-nation study on "World Health Systems: Lessons for the United States" sponsored by the Select Committee on Aging, House of Representatives, 98th Congress, second session.

Specifically, the lessons drawn from that study called for greater reliance on non-institutional care; development of a tiered health care system that emphasizes use of "local" facilities instead of more sophisticated expensive hospitals; and greater utilization of nurses (practitioners) in the delivery of primary care.

In May-June 1985 the author visited health care facilities and nursing education institutions; met with key health professionals, consumers and public health officials; observed services delivered; reviewed records, reports and publications; and attended meetings in the two target countries.

The essence of the findings is that while the United States is probably the richest country in the world, it is beset by a number of problems in regard to the health and well-being of its citizens.

Namely, it has one of the highest infant mortality rates among the industrialized countries; health care is largely delivered in the most expensive settings (the hospitals); physicians' fees for service are determined (except for Medicare and Medicaid) by what the market will bear; it is the only industrialized country lacking national health insurance; and health care as a proportion of the gross national product equals or exceeds that of other industrialized countries that offer total comprehensive health and medical coverage.

Based on findings of the study, recommendations are made as follows: There should be:

1. Greater utilization of nursing personnel, especially master's-prepared public health/community health nurses, nurse practitioners and nurse midwives to deliver primary care (meaning care in the immediate environment).

2. Fixed rates of physician reimbursement that are government controlled.

3. Planning and development of medical and health services based upon local and regional units of organization.

4. Establishment of centers utilizing nurses as the primary care deliverers.

5. Greater efforts to care for the elderly in non-institutional settings.

(Dr. Patricia Forni, dean of nursing, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, can be contacted at the university for more information on her studies and findings.)

Two laws to aid disabled

Illinois Department of Rehabilitation Services Director Susan S. Suter has announced that two bills which will become law on July 1 will provide assistance to Illinois residents with disabilities.

House Bill 894 requires major Illinois airports and Amtrak railroad stations that are within 20 miles of cities with a population of 25,000 or more to have a telecommunication device for the deaf (TDD) available.

The law states that a TDD must be available from one hour before the first flight or train of the day until one hour after the last flight or train of the day.

July 1 is also the date that House Bill 1953 becomes effective. The bill states that gasoline station customers with handicapped license plates or a similar decal will be allowed to pay self-service prices for fuel at full-service pumps.

Tips for sleeping at night

Everyone knows that adequate sleep is important to physical and mental health. But getting a good night's sleep is sometimes difficult. What can you do to help yourself get to sleep?

Here are some tips from Sid Nau, Ph.D., sleep specialist and coordinator of Christian Hospital's Sleep Disorders Center:

• Establish a sleep rhythm: A regular sleep schedule is vital, Nau says. Get up at the same time every morning. Don't nap during the day. But go to bed only when you are genuinely sleepy—not at a prescribed bedtime. No universal bedtime is right for everybody, and not everyone requires the same amount of sleep. For some people, five hours of sleep is enough; others need eight to 10 hours.

• Avoid stimulants late in the day.

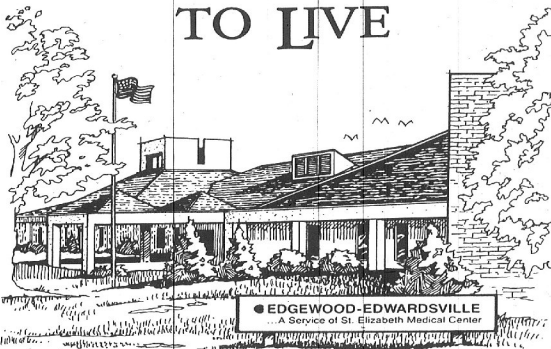

Stay away from caffeine, nicotine and alcohol in the evening. Coffee, of course, is a prime source of caffeine—but tea and soft drinks contain caffeine, too. Smoking late in the day may contribute to sleeplessness by causing physical reactions that interfere with falling asleep and sleeping soundly, Nau says.

"As for alcohol, people think it's good for sleep, but, in reality, it's not," he adds. "It can help you feel drowsy, but it doesn't promote restful sleep, because while you are asleep, you are actually withdrawing from the alcohol."

• Have a relaxing evening: Build relaxing activities into your evening routine. What you do during the last one or two hours before you go to bed influences how easily you'll fall asleep. Listening to music, reading a book or magazine or even watching television are sleep-conducive. Avoid activities that keep you awake and alert. Don't participate in strenuous exercise during the last three hours before you plan to go to bed.

Triplets drop two; fall to 1-5

It was not the most prosperous of weekends for the Tri-City Post 113 Senior Legion team.

Off to a struggling start in 1986, the Triplets dropped two more games Saturday and Sunday and saw their record drop to 1-5.

On Saturday, Granite City lost 11-4 to the Belleville Hilgards Post 58 in Belleville. The game was tied 2-2 going in to the bottom of the fifth inning when Belleville pushed across two runs against Triplets starter and loser Mark Bowen.

Belleville then exploded for seven more runs in the sixth inning to salt the game away as the Triplets committed five errors in the game to go with 12 Belleville hits. Bob Becker was 3 for 4 with two triples and four RBIs for Post 58. Mark Kohlenberger was the winning pitcher.

Granite City had 10 hits in the game, with Scott LeVault leading the way. In his first game back after a case of the chicken pox, LeVault was 3 for 3, including a double and a two-run homer. Jamie Hogan and Doug Partney also had two hits apiece for the Triplets.

After a relatively good offensive showing Saturday night, the Triplets' bats went silent on a Father's Day game at Varsity Field. Jeff Lindsay held Granite City to only one hit, a fourth-inning double by LeVault, as Smithton Post 357 rolled to a 9-1 win. Smithton drizzled all of their offense in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings as they rallied for 12 hits in the game.

They had four runs in the fourth and four more in the sixth sandwiched around a single tally in the fifth.

Ernie Gray took the loss for Granite City as he was charged for nine runs, six of them earned. The Triplets had taken a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Jamie Hogan walked, stole second and third and scored on a sacrifice fly by Todd Adamitis.

After Tuesday night's game at East St. Louis, the Triplets play a 6 p.m. game tonight at Fairview Heights and are back home at Varsity Field for a 6 p.m. game Friday against O'Fallon.

Optimists lose 1st in doubleheader split

Granite City strands 11 runners in opener

By Gary King

Correspondent

GRANITE CITY—The Granite City Optimists Junior Legion squad had been packing a strong punch with their bats through the first four games of the summer. But in the first game of Saturday's doubleheader against Freeburg Post 550, the Optimists finally took one to the chin.

After posting a combined total of 46 runs in their first four games, the Optimists' bats were quieted a bit, as Freeburg broke the Granite City squad's four-game winning streak with a 10-6 victory.

The Optimists rebounded to take the nightcap, 10-6.

The split raised Granite City's record to 5-1 on the season, while Freeburg saw their mark move to 3-2 on the summer.

The telling factor in Saturday's opener was the Optimists' inability to pick up key hits with runners in scoring position. On three occasions, Granite City left two runners stranded; and in the fourth inning, an Optimists rally was ended with the bases loaded.

Freeburg, however, had no such problem, as three first inning hits, coupled with two Optimists errors, gave Post 550 an early 4-0 lead. The Optimists threatened in their half of the first, as center fielder Randy Chapman reached on a leadoff single, then advanced to second on a one-out base hit by shortstop Charlie Collins. Designated hitter Scott LeVault managed to move both runners up with a sacrifice fly to right, but Freeburg escaped unscathed when Granite City third baseman Timmy Patterson flied to left to end the inning.

After Granite City starter Mark Begando had held Freeburg at bay in the second and third innings—retiring six of the seven batters he faced—Post 550 saw its lead increase to 6-0 in the top half of the fourth when Optimists' right fielder Jerry Thompson misjudged a fly ball of the bat of Freeburg's Joe Moli, allowing Steve Gardner and Mike Joseph to cross the plate.

The Optimists began to show signs of life in the bottom half of the inning when Patterson and left fielder Richie Wilson poked back-to-back base hits.

After Gardier walked first baseman Mike Georgeff to load the bases, Patterson was able to trot home when Granite City catcher Dave Bamber was issued a free pass, cutting the Freeburg lead to 6-1. Begando then aided his own cause with an RBI single to left, scoring Wilson from third. The Optimists' rally was stalled, however, when Chapman and Darin Hendrickson fanned to end the inning.

Granite City's hopes of a comeback were shattered in the fifth when LeVault, pitching in relief of Begando, spotted Freeburg two more runs by walking four consecutive batters and striking out Moli with a high, inside fastball. Freeburg then pushed two more runs across the plate when third baseman Scott Muskoif belted a two-out single which scored Craig Harbough and Joseph, increasing the Optimists' deficit to 10-2.

The Optimists kept pace with the cat-and-mouse affair in the bottom of the inning when Georgeff drove home LeVault with a sacrifice grounder. Bamber picked up his second RBI of the contest when he smashed a two-out single which scored Patterson from third. The inning ended when Begando lined to second with two runners on base.

Following an RBI single by LeVault in the sixth, cutting the Freeburg lead to 10-5, Post 550 put the game away in the top half of the seventh by scoring two runs on three hits.

Darin Hendrickson drove in the Optimists' final run of the game in the top of the seventh with an RBI single which scored pinch-hitter Jay Valbert, who had reached base with a one-out base hit.

After the contest, Optimists assistant coach Carl Benson said his squad's loss was "just a matter of inches."

"A few inches here and a few inches there, and we would have been right in the ballgame," Benson said. "We got the hits and we had the runners on base all during the ballgame. We just couldn't seem to get the big hit when we needed it. The guys hit the ball hard. It just seemed like it was always right at somebody."

"Overall, I've been real pleased with the way we've been hitting the ball this year. This is the first game that we haven't scored in double figures. I think the key to today was that we made some costly errors and our pitchers had some trouble throwing strikes."

"We've got some guys who weren't feeling real good today, and two of our starters (Mike Lane and Kirk Miers) are in Indiana for a soccer tournament. I didn't think their absence would hurt us this bad, but obviously it did."

In the nightcap, stellar hitting performances by Georgeff, Wilson and LeVault, coupled with a solid pitching performance by Jay Valbert, helped the Optimists earn the split with a 10-6 win.

Wilson drove in two runs with a home run and a double; while Georgeff and LeVault also drove in a pair of runs. Collins added two hits in the win.

The Optimists were to face Alton in an away game Tuesday. Complete results will appear in Thursday's Press-Record/Journal.

Auto racing not his favorite sport

Just recently, the Indianapolis 500 race took place before a much smaller crowd than usual. With rain delaying the 500 one week after the traditional Memorial Day weekend, I was again reminded that the 500 race, as far as I'm concerned, is just a big h-o-m happening.

In fact, the Indy 500 is the one event I could easily do without each and every year. I was unfortunate enough just once to be assigned to cover the race, to my utter dismay.

Talk about boring. And, worst of all, no one seems to know just what is going on. Why, there have been times when the men in charge of the race didn't even know, until several days had gone by, just which car had won the race.

The race I was unfortunate

Sports of All Sorts

By Al Barnes

enough to be caught assigned to was, if memory serves me right, the 1948 race. I haven't been back. Maybe I'm being unfair to the dyed-in-the-wool auto racing fan, because they are a rugged breed. They are a devoted bunch of fans loyal to their sport.

But, as I say, it leaves me cold. I just can't get excited about it. I first was embittered by the sport when, in mid-1948, my sports editor at the old St. Louis Star-Times assigned one of his reporters to cover the midget auto races at the old Walsh Stadium oval out on Oakland Avenue on a Friday night each week.

Every man on the sports staff literally hated the assignment. If you happened to be in St. Keener's doghouse, you'd draw the midget auto assignment.

Like the typical pro wrestling fan, the midget auto racing fan was a special breed of people. Back at that time, there was a regular following of about 10,000 people who could be counted on to turn out for the races.

And, if you are so young to not remember, the race track on Oakland Avenue, just east of the Arena, was the football stadium used by St. Louis University, until the Bills finally bowed to the ever-decreasing number of grid fans in the late 1940s and decided to give up the game.

About the only thing that could be said about the races was that many of the drivers of that vintage gained the experience needed to drive the big ones in such races as the Indy 500.

But, to me, the midgets and the Indy 500 are both a case of dullsville, believe you me.

Oh, I'll be the first to admit the drivers of those races are a rare breed of men. They are brave, no doubt about it, and highly skilled, too.

But what I hated most about the races was I found myself, for which I hated myself, looking forward to the bloody crashes during the course of an average Indy 500. This is roughly comparable to what I'd feel when I was covering a boxing match. I would find myself pulling for one or the other boxer to knock the brains out of the other fighter.

It's not a pleasant feeling.

Autumn hunting seasons announced

Unless there are last-minute changes, Missouri waterfowl hunters will be required to use non-toxic steel shot in several zones and areas this year.

The zones, set by the state Conservation Commission, are subject to final regulations of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service for this year's migratory bird seasons.

The boundaries of the zones and areas are:

■ NORTHWEST MISSOURI—west of I-29 from St. Joseph to the Iowa line.

■ SWAN LAKE—U.S. Highway 36 on the north, Missouri Highway 240 on the east, U.S. Highway 65 on the south and west.

■ NORTHEAST MISSOURI—north of the Missouri River from its confluence with the Mississippi River west to U.S. Highway 61, then east of U.S. Highway 61 to Hannibal.

■ SOUTHWEST MISSOURI—Missouri Highway 2 on the north, Missouri Highway 13 on the east, U.S. Highway 54 on the south and U.S. Highway 71 on the west.

■ SOUTHEAST MISSOURI—Missouri Highway 34 on the north, Missouri Highways 51, 91 and 26 on the east, U.S. Highway 62 on the south and U.S. Highway 67 and Missouri Highway 53 on the west.

■ WATERFOWL AREAS INCLUDED—The Bob Brown, Ben Cash, Coon Island, Dark Cypress, Duck Creek, Fox Train, Grand Pass, Hornersville Swamp, Little Compton, Marais Temp's Clair, Montrose, Otter Slough, Shell-O-Quag, Settle's Ford, Seven Island, Ted Shanks and Ten Mile Pond Wildlife Areas and the Swan Lake National Wildlife Refuge.

■ THE MISSOURI Department of Conservation has set several migratory bird seasons, all similar to last year.

■ WOODCOCK SEASON—Oct. 15 through Dec. 18; limit of five.

daily and 10 in possession.

■ DOVE SEASON—Sept. 1 through Nov. 9; daily limit of 10 and possession limit of 20.

■ EARLY TEAL SEASON—Sept. 13 through 21; daily limit of four and possession limit of eight.

■ GROUSE SEASON—Oct. 15 through Dec. 18; limit of two daily and four in possession.

■ AUTUMN TURKEY SEASON—Oct. 13 through Oct. 26. A turkey either sex is legal and the limit is one each week.

■ Federal Cartridge Corporation has come out with several new shotshell loads for this autumn.

Size "F" steel shot has been added for the 12-gauge 3-inch magnum load. This size is between BB's and No. 4 buck. The 3-inch magnum shotshell will hold 48 pellets of "F" shot. The muzzle velocity is 1400 feet per second with an energy of 26 foot-pounds at 40 yards, twice the per pellet energy of magnum lead BS loads. This should make an excellent long range steel goose load.

Federal also is offering No. 2 steel in this shell provides 117 pellets. This autumn Federal also is offering a 12-gauge, 3-inch magnum rifled slug loading. The shell will feature a 1 1/4 ounce hollow point slug called "Hi-Shok" that has helix rifling for accuracy. Muzzle velocity is 1,560 feet per second and at 50 yards the new magnum load delivers 2,010 foot-pounds of energy, versus 1,175 foot-pounds for the standard No. 2 and three quarter inch one-ounce slug.

Federal offers a tip to hunters using rifled slugs. Tests have shown that when sighting in your shotgun, the first group from a clean barrel may not be the best you can achieve. Loading the lead in the barrel from the first few shots tends to improve accuracy in most barrels.

An excellent topographical map of Council Bluffs Lake in the Mark Twain National Forest south of Potosi is available from some area sporting goods stores. The map, which sells for $3, is available from Coleman's Topographical Fishing Maps, 5929 Lone Oak, High Ridge, Mo. 63049.

A Fun Shoot sponsored by the South County Archers is held every Wednesday evening. This consists of shooting at 14 animal targets at various distances. Anyone interested in archery is invited to attend. There are attendance prizes given after each Fun Shoot. The range is located in Jefferson Barracks Park in south county. For further information call Bob Urbanek at (314) 638-8197.
